

LOCAL CONTENT POLICY

BRADE West Africa Limited is a Ghanaian company with the intention to use resources from Ghana (materials and personnel) for all projects. BRADE West Africa Limited Management believes that the company's success relies on the technical and intellectual strength of its indigenous human resources. We explore all avenues to enhance the potential of its employees and also provide its staff with specialized training locally and overseas to harness and develop these local talents. BRADE provides a career development plan to keep its employees; skills and interest aligned with the organizational needs and to build their commitment to the organization. Moreover it encourages and supports its Ghanaian employees who are willing to pursue higher education. Our local strength is fortified through an alliance with partner companies spread around the globe. We send our local engineers for training or cross posting to our operations in other countries on a need basis so as to ensure that we have technically capable indigenous support to the systems and products represented and supplied in the local market. Our personnel are well trained with qualified updated curriculum vitae with technical capability of successfully completed various typical projects.
